FATHER IS STABBED TO DEATH ON CYCLE PATH

Family man found collapsed with chest wound on Saturday morning

By William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

THE partner of a man stabbed and killed on a cycle track has pleaded for witnesses to come forward.

Police launched a murder probe after father-of-two Hassan Abdi Mohamed, 48, from Harlow, was found collapsed close to Holly Field shortly before 10.45am on Saturday.

His partner said: "What happened to our beloved Hassan has come as a complete shock to us.

"He was a loving father to our two gorgeous children, who adored him.

"If there is anyone with information that can help, however small it may be, please contact the police. We need to know why this happened."

A post mortem revealed he was killed by a single stab wound to the chest.

Searching

Police teams have been thoroughly searching the pathway and gardens in the Holly Field residential area for any sign of a large knife, thought to be the murder weapon.

Detective chief inspector Marina Ericson, of the Serious Crime Directorate, said: "I am very keen to get hold of any CCTV from either businesses or private premises which overlook Pyenest Road, Holly Field, Abercrombie Way and Southern Way from Saturday morning which may have captured either our victim or the person or people responsible for this awful crime."

Police cordoned off a stretch of the cycle track behind the Holly Field estate to carry out a forensic search for evidence.

Emergency services were alerted to 10.44am on Saturday with reports a man had gone into cardiac arrest.

They found the man collapsed on the cycle track which runs from Southern Way to Pyenest Road.

The East of England Ambulance Service took the man to Princess Alexandra Hospital where he died shortly after midday.

Police have appealed for anyone with information about the incident to contact the Harlow Major Incident Team by calling 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Charity's plea for volunteers and support

A CHARITY is appealing for more volunteers to continue helping families with practical and emotional support.

Home-Start Harlow recently moved to Harlow Study Centre in Waterhouse Moor but needs more donations to continue.

A spokesman from the charity said: "Now that Home-Start does not receive any regular funding we are dependent on donations. For us to continue we need help."

Patron Harlow MP Robert Halfon added: "The passion and dedication of the staff is second to none. I have seen first-hand how they have transformed lives."

Home-Start is also looking to recruit and train new volunteers through a 10 week course, which begins on April 14.

Call Donna Osborne on (01279) 451669 for more.

Future of CJ Pryor will be secure with buyout deal

A BUYOUT has secured the future of long-standing Harlow business CJ Pryor, who plunged into administration in January.

The earth-moving construction business has been sold out of administration to coal transporting firm Hargreaves (UK) Services Limited.

Administrators say the sale of the ongoing business, trade and certain assets to Hargreaves ensures a continuity of trading and servicing of existing contracts and provides the most viable long term solution for all concerned.

CJ Pryor specialises in earth moving, civil engineering and related earth moving haulage for infrastructure projects ranging from road building to reservoir construction as well as for quarrying, landfill construction, land restoration and land reclamation.

The business, based in Foster Street, has nearly 70 years of trading history and works with a range of big construction contractor firms on larger infrastructure projects including Harlow Enterprise Zone. It faced a severe short-fall in working capital in the first quarter of 2015, and after attempts to restructure failed to address the pressure on cash-flow, the group was left with no viable option other than to seek administration while the business was marketed for sale.

It is anticipated that the sale of the business and assets will create a number of job opportunities for the 60 staff that continued to be employed throughout the transitional period of the past few weeks.

Last Tuesday, Glyn Mummery and Paul Atkinson, partners at FRP Advisory, were appointed as joint administrators for CJ Pryor and completed a sale of the ongoing business, trade and certain assets to Hargreaves.

Mr Mummery said: "We wish all concerned under the new ownership of Hargreaves, an established operator in the construction market, the very best for the future."

Accidental death verdict for biker

Father, 24, died of injuries suffered in crash

Court Reporter

court.reporter@hertsexnews.co.uk

A CORONER has recorded a verdict of accidental death for a Harlow motorcyclist who died after crashing into a lamp post.

Jay Morton, 24, of Wharley Hook, died in hospital on October 2 after suffering multiple injuries.

The inquest at Chelmsford Coroners Court heard on Tuesday that Mr Morton was found with more than twice the legal limit of alcohol in his blood.

Essex senior coroner Caroline Beasley-Murray was told that the father-of-one had spent the evening in a London pub with colleagues, leaving about 10pm to ride home on his Honda motor-cycle.

Mr Morton, born in Dagenham, leaves behind an 18-month-old daughter.

He was a talented footballer who played for New Town FC in Harlow as well as a team in his former home town of Barking.

He was found injured on Southern Way at 11.30pm on October 2 after his motorbike hit a lamp post after a mini roundabout at its junction with Parnall Road.

While he was not exceeding the 40mph speed limit, his helmet was not correctly fastened and came off.

Sgt Richard Raker, accident investigator from Essex Police, said there were no signs of emergency breaking or harsh steering to avoid collision. It was a dry night and no other vehicles were involved.

The officer said the road gently curved to the right after the mini-roundabout before it straightened. There was a scratch mark on the roadside kerb 12 metres before the lamp post which was followed by a tyre scuff on the kerb, while there were other tyre marks on the grass.

Sgt Raker said: "Most likely, as a result of having consumed alcohol two and a half times the legal limit, he failed to apply sufficient steering as he went round a bend."

"The Honda mounted the kerb and struck the lamp post."

The inquest was attended by Mr Morton's mother Stephanie, stepfather Mark, father Steve, partner Nicola Stripp as well as other family members.

The coroner decided on a verdict of accidental death.

Occasio House tenants fear life on the streets

Young people told they will not automatically be re-housed

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsexnews.co.uk

YOUNG people living in Occasio House fear they will end up living on the streets once the project is closed in September.

"We have nowhere to go," said 19-year-old Jess Tobias, who has lived at Occasio House for two years.

"Most people won't be able to get rehoused. The council say they can't rehouse us so where are we supposed to go? All they say is we'll receive support."

The building in Playhouse Square offers accommodation to young single homeless people with support needs and those at risk aged between 16 and 24 years old.

The building is made up of 116 properties – 76 furnished studios and 40 unfurnished one-bedroom flats.

Last week, housing provider East Thames and Essex County Council announced they would be closing the project in September.

Some of the residents living in building are either working or in full-time education as they aim to get their lives back on track.

A 20-year-old resident, who works full-time and asked not to be named, added: "I work full-time so I pay £164 a week rent."

"I've been told I will get no help – so how am I supposed to save for somewhere to live? I don't have anywhere else to go."

On Facebook, former resident Shaunna Lane wrote: "I spent three years here, and yes there are those who don't treat it with respect like there is in every area, however they amount of good this place does is often forgotten.

"I was in a bad way when I moved in and they never gave up on me. They helped me manage my money; helped me to treat myself with respect; helped me into work; helped me boost my qualifications, and helped me become a responsible member of society rather than a social outcast

"They do this for everyone in here and a lot of people living here are from very troubled pasts and need this place to make them feel that they are worth something."

Harlow Council has said that they will work to support and assist "some of those affected".

Cllr Rod Truan, portfolio holder for housing, said: "Future housing provision for many of the residents will be provided by other agencies and not the council."

There are thought to be around 40 beds for vulnerable young people at locations around the town but tenants of Occasio House have been told these places are currently occupied.

Holiday awaits lucky lady who wins £4k in St Clare Lottery

PERSISTENCE paid off for a lucky lady who bagged the £4,200 St Clare Hospice Lottery rollover.

The 79-year-old Harlow resident, who wished to remain anonymous, has been playing the charity's lottery for 10 years and finally won this month.

She said: "I pay my pound to enter the lottery every week because I know St Clare does such good work in my community, and I thought it was a fun way to support them.

"I never dreamed I would win such a big amount because I never win anything."

The lady is planning to treat her family to a holiday with her winnings.

Now St Clare are making her success easier to replicate with a sign-up facility on their website.

This allows players to enter every week automatically.

The winner added: "I have played the lottery for years and am in the draw every single week."

"I don't have to worry about missing a week as I pay directly from my bank and it's a good job I do, or I might not have won the £4,200."

The lottery raises more than £200,000 for the Hastingwood-based charity who rely heavily on donations to meet their running costs of £3.7m per year. To sign up visit: www.stclare-hospice.org.uk.

Cutting TAs is shortsighted

SIR Recent research by the Education Endowment Foundation shows that when teaching assistants are used effectively, pupils make two-four months extra progress.

The proposed cuts to TAs, counsellors and learning mentors by academies in Harlow are shortsighted and will have a detrimental effect on children's learning.

So what will happen to those children now? Some schools will try to deter them from joining the school or leave them bumping along the bottom of the achievement stakes, doomed to see themselves as low achievers.

My educational career was spent encouraging teachers to include children with special needs in their classrooms. Most can do so brilliantly, creatively and successfully and without detriment to the other learners. But teaching assistants are often a key part of that strategy.

Given the intolerable workload and pressure to achieve ever more demanding results, I fear teachers will find their commitment to inclusivity severely tested – and I fear for the children and young people whose school lives are about to get much harder.

The Tories are wedded to the idea that fear of failure is a great motivator, even though research suggests that it's absolutely the worst way to motivate anyone to do their best work.

Many TAs are talented, sensitive and skilful motivators of children and young people. Several I worked with were inspired to become teachers themselves, but even those who were content to remain as TAs knew that they were invaluable in the classroom.

Thrown on the unemployment heap and condemned to go through the DWP machine, how many will end up in low paid and casual work that will never compare with the contribution they made to children's learning?

Reasons for small crowds

SIR Following on from Alan Scott's report about Harlow

READER'S PHOTO

■ This photograph of the sun rising over Harlow town centre was taken by reader Neil Armstrong, who writes: "I had to stop and take a picture on my way into work. The picture was taken on Second Avenue just before the Phoenix roundabout at around 6am."

■ If you have a photo you have taken in or around Harlow and would like to see featured in the Star, email a high resolution copy in JPEG format, along with a brief description of where and when it was taken, to star@hertsessexnews.co.uk. Please include your name and address.

Town FC ('Hawks need you', February 25), I would like to make a few observations.

My family has lived in Harlow from the beginning and we are, and have always been, huge supporters of football within the town. Three generations have played through the Harlow recreational leagues, the junior and at the top level in the senior leagues. I now have grandchildren starting off the fourth generation.

To understand the plight Harlow Town FC finds itself in regarding attendance at matches, you first have to understand the feeling of the Harlow footballing fraternity.

Over the years football within Harlow has been diminishing. You used to drive through Harlow on a Saturday or Sunday and there would be football matches being played on every available pitch and there were many more pitches than exist today. There were many more divisions of leagues and many more players.

What has happened is that council funding for the upkeep of pitches and facilities has dwindled while at the same time the cost to the local teams has risen dramatically, making it difficult for teams and leagues to survive.

The kind of people like me and my family who are involved in local league football should be most the likely catchment for interest and support of Harlow Town FC team, but there are strong reasons why that level of interest and support is not forthcoming.

How many truly local people represent Harlow Town on a regular basis? Does the club feel local talent is not good enough? I would argue that with two teams in the semi finals of the Essex Premier Sunday Cup this season – all local lads – the talent is there.

The pinnacle for local teams, apart from succeeding in their individual leagues, was always to play in a divisional or inter divisional cup final at the Sportcentre or, more recently, Harlow Town's ground. But what happened? The club put up the prices so much these showpiece games had to be moved to Bishop's Stortford.

Does that kind of treatment of the local football-loving community really warrant increased support for Harlow Town FC? I think maybe not.

Special status is meaningless

SIR I will be voting for the UK to leave the EU and this is the reason why.

After David Cameron's recent EU negotiations and the supposedly good outcome for the UK, a press conference was held by Jean Claude Juncker and Donald Tusk which was screened on the BBC News channel on Friday, February 19.

A journalist asked if the special status agreement given to the UK, as signed off by the heads of states, would give us an advantage over other EU countries and would it be acceptable to the European court. Jean Claude Junckers' reply was no.

This tells me that what Mr Cameron reckons he has achieved will be picked over by the MEPs who will then take it to the European Supreme Court. They will win their case on the basis that no single country within the EU could or should be treated differently to any other, let alone be given special status.

Then all that Mr Cameron said he had achieved will become nothing.

Henry Cox
Archers Harlow.

Parking at PAH is a nightmare

SIR I am currently undergoing physiotherapy at Princess Alexandra Hospital and I am disgusted by the limited parking. I work full time so I don't have the luxury of time. I get to leave one hour before my appointment and as I work in south London that doesn't leave much time spare.

The hospital car park is always full and generally so is the Wych Elm car park across the road. As I am recovering from a double leg injury I cannot walk very far and I have had to cancel more than one appointment simply because there was nowhere to park!

It is ridiculous to have an outpatient department which primarily deals with people's recovery at a location with such limited accessibility. I shouldn't have to take a day's annual leave or ask my partner to do so just so that I can attend a half-hour appointment.

Neil Coster
Newhall, Harlow

Surely somewhere like the Latton Bush Centre would be better suited for an outpatient department.

The time for talking is over

SIR I think Cllr Ian Beckett has missed my point about mental health champions (Letters, February 25). I am also a sufferer and have been open about what happened to me and my issues.

It took me 30 years to realise I had a problem and a further 10 to slowly open up. Why? Because I still feel I am to blame for what happened to me.

Having a civil servant to talk to is of no benefit as they have not had the years of training or experience, nor will they get it because of various cuts to benefits of which mental health sufferers are in desperate need.

The notion of talking about mental health has been batted around for years but talk is cheap. What is needed is dedicated staff offering patient-centred care, people who genuinely want to try to help and not just palm people off with anti-depressants.

If what is being portrayed is going to be an extremely long-term project then I, like many sufferers, will embrace it but it has to be with psychiatric professionals and have full funding.

I trust this clears up Cllr Beckett's concerns about my views on this issue of mental health champions.

Elderly enjoying home comforts

SIR Over the past couple of months I have had the pleasure of visiting a sweet lady in her 90s in Ashlyns Care Home.

I would just like to say everyone looks so well cared for. It was meal time when I visited and what a treat to see residents being served such lovely food.

Staff were very friendly and the cleanliness was excellent. It seems a wonderful place to spend your twilight years being cared for and loved.

Quest for large knife used to kill path man

Police say murder weapon could be in garden or bin

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

PEOPLE are being urged to check their bins, sheds and gardens for a large knife used to kill a man in Harlow.

The victim father-of-two Hassan Abdi Mohamed from Harlow was found collapsed on the path that runs from Southern Way to Pyenest Road, close to St Luke's Catholic Academy.

He was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital for treatment but died shortly after midday on Saturday.

A forensic post-mortem revealed he was killed by a single stab wound to the chest from a large knife.

Detectives, specialist investigators, uniformed officers and PCSOs currently remain at the location, where the man was found, carrying out a forensic examination of the scene as well as house to house enquiries in nearby Holly Field.

Dog walkers

The surrounding area, which is popular with dog walkers, including the playing fields near the Great Parndon Community Association are also being searched.

Detective Chief Inspector Marina Ericson, of Essex Police Serious Crime Directorate, has urged people to check their bins, sheds and gardens for the murder, which has yet to be located.

She said: "We believe this victim had walked up the pathway from Southern Way and was attacked close to Holly Field, near the Pyenest Road end of the track."

"The cause of death has been established, but we are still searching for the murder weapon which is thought to be a large knife."

"It is quite possible this has been discarded nearby and I would ask people to check their bins, gardens and outbuildings for any knives that have been left. I would also ask members of the public out and about in Harlow to report any such findings to us."

ACTIVITY: Police sealed off the cycle path between Holyfield and Southern Way

TAPE: Marks the no-go area being searched

"I am also keen to get hold of any CCTV from either businesses or private premises which overlook Pyenest Road, Holly Field, Abercrombie Way and Southern Way which may have captured either our victim or the person or people responsible for this awful crime."

Police cordoned off a 20m stretch of the path behind Holly Field houses while they searched gardens in the area.

A woman, who asked not to be named, said: "The police have been all over the place, they have been amazing, very supportive and reassuring."

Paramedics were called to the scene shortly before 10.45am on Saturday and found the man collapsed on the cycle path.

A spokesman from East of England Ambulance Service (EEAST) said: "A call came in at 10.44am reporting someone in cardiac arrest in Pyenest Road."

"The ambulance crew was dispatched, shortly followed by an ambulance officer as well as two air ambulances. These were the Essex Air Ambulance and the Herts Air Ambulance."

"The patient was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital via road ambulance in a life threatening condition. He was alive when he reached the hospital but unfortunately later died."

Inquest

An inquest into the death of Mr Mohamed was opened and adjourned at Essex Coroners Court in Chelmsford yesterday.

DCI Ericson added: "If anyone has any information which could help us make an arrest or piece together the full pictures I would ask them to call the Harlow Major Incident Team on 101, or ring Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111."

"It offers rewards of up to £1,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of offenders."

Brutal crime has left community feeling vulnerable

PEOPLE living in the quiet residential area have spoken of their shock after man was stabbed on a cycle track.

As part of the murder investigation police cordoned off a stretch of the pathway that runs between Southern Way and Pyenest Road, behind the back gardens Holly Field homes.

Some admitted to feeling nervous after the stabbing, and resident Amy Newby, 23, said: "I feel unsafe now and I won't be going that way anymore, especially because I have children."

"I will go a longer way to shops and services now because it will be safer."

Mother-of-two Angela Young, 39, added: "I was shocked to hear that it happened."

"I do not think I will be using this path any more, especially because I have two young children. I will walk another way."

Catholic Academy

The Holly Field estate is close to St Luke's Catholic Academy, the Great Parndon Community Association and within walking distance of the town centre.

Residents spoke of surprise to hear that a murder investigation had been launched so close to home and that the incident happened during the day time, around 10.45am.

Others said they may seek alternative routes to the path which provides a link to the Staple Tye shopping centre.

Paul Kidby, 61, said: "I was surprised to hear about it because it is a very quiet area."

"I was playing bowls on Saturday when I heard the helicopter flying, and I thought 'that sounds like it's really low'. It has not affected me, but my daughter will go a different way to work now."

A neighbour, who did not wish to be named, added: "It is such a quiet area, we have never seen anything like this before. But I hear of so much going on in the town these days that nothing surprises me any more.

"It is right behind our back garden and it is a path I use all the time to walk my dogs. It is a very common route for dog walkers because it leads to some playing fields."

"I'm not sure if I will use it again (one the path has been re-opened)."

Police said detectives, specialist investigators, uniformed officers and community support officers had all been present while forensic examinations were carried out.

Officers knocked on doors to see if residents had witnessed the stabbing and, where resident's garden backed onto the cycle path, back yards were searched to find a large knife thought to be the weapon used to stab the victim in the chest.

The same Holly Field resident added: "Police have been searching my garden, looking for a single knife in connection to the incident."

"They (Essex Police) have been all over the place, they have been amazing, very supportive and reassuring."

However, a 41-year-old neighbour, who did not wish to be named, added: "Stuff has happened there before and I have known incidents happen along that stretch of path, including muggings."

"It is a common spot for trouble."

Review will study abuse allegations

HISTORICAL allegations that young boys in Essex were sexually abused, are being investigated by police.

Allegations were made about abuse of children in state and foster care in the 1980s and 1990s.

Essex Police chief constable Stephen Kavanagh said: "At present we have allegations but no victims, suspects or locations."

"But whether alleged abuse, especially organised and institutionalised, happened yesterday or thirty years ago, it's our duty to review."

The concerns were raised when Mr Kavanagh met with, Essex Police and Crime Commissioner Nick Alston, retired district psychologist Robin Jamieson, former treatment specialist Jenny Grinstead and probation officer Rob West, on February 25.

The first step in exploring the allegations is to review known evidence which could inform future investigation.

Mr Kavanagh added: "If you have information about such crimes, or are yourself a victim or survivor of sexual abuse as a child during this period, I need you to come forward."

"Contact us directly on 101, asking to speak to a specialist officer within our Child Abuse Investigation teams."

"It is our duty to explore in such allegations, investigating with professionalism and integrity."

'Action needed' to ease demand at busy hospital

Shadow secretary meets with PAH staff

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

PRINCESS Alexandra Hospital is "struggling to cope," according to Shadow Health Minister Heidi Alexander.

The Labour MP met with nurses, trade union members from Royal College of Nurses and ambulance staff at the Hamstel Road centre on Monday.

After the visit, she said: "Staff morale is at rock bottom and the hospital is struggling to cope with demand."

"I have seen several hospitals in the area and the accident and emergency department here is the busiest I have seen yet. Staff are having to work incredibly hard in difficult circumstances."

"I found staff are struggling to discharge patients who are well enough to leave, which causes pressure to build."

Ms Alexander said she preferred to meet with staff, rather than hospital chiefs, to gain a better understanding of how decisions made by the Government affect front-line services. She plans to now visit the staff room of different hospitals once a month. The shadow minister also attacked Health Secretary Jeremy Hunt over the imposing of the protested junior doctor contract scheme.

Ms Alexander added: "The future is uncertain. The Government need to adequately fund Princess Alexandra Hospital. They need to come up with urgent action to address problems reported, solve staff shortages and they need to invest in social care services."

"There is a problem with the funding of services and staffing as the Government continue to squeeze NHS finances."

"Hospitals across the country are buckling under the pressure."

Jobs are important to ensure town flourishes

I am passionate about bringing jobs and apprenticeships back to Harlow.

For this reason, I often visit flourishing businesses in our town. Companies like Precision Toolmakers, Leitz are flourishing and employing apprentices.

Bigger businesses like Harlow DHL now employ 100 people and are going from strength to strength.

Over the past year, I have visited almost 100 local businesses and nearly everywhere I go, I see the same story: more jobs, more apprentices and commercial success. Harlow is open for business.

The jobseekers claimant count is down by 59.2% and the number of apprentices is up by 73.3%, both since 2010. Jobs and apprenticeships are important because they ensure that Harlow residents have the skills and livelihood they need to provide for their families. If businesses and jobs flourish then the whole of Harlow flourishes too.

The arrival of Public Health England, the Enterprise Zone, the University Technical School, the ever improving results of our secondary schools will not only ensure thousands of jobs for the future, but will ensure that young people have the skills that they need to get on in life.

The reason why I worked so hard for five years to persuade the Government to bring Public Health England to Harlow, was because this represents a once in a generation opportunity to ensure that our town is equipped for the 21st Century.

Just as jobs are important, so is housing. I was also pleased to bring Brandon Lewis MP, the Minister of State for Housing, to Harlow recently for a Housing Summit and to meet with Housing Association, Places for People and local councillors to see how we can provide more Harlow Housing for Harlow people. The housing minister visited the new housing on the former swimming pool site to see a good example of well-designed and some affordable housing for residents.

If we continue to create more jobs and build more housing, this will renew Harlow and ensure we have the funds to regenerate and redevelop our town centre.

Council warns dog owners to stay away

Advice follows concerns about 'killer' ticks in fields

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

DOG owners in Harlow are being told to steer clear of large area of land which is home to a tick which can cause a potentially fatal disease.

Harlow Council issued advice to owners last Friday to avoid walking their dogs on an area of land between Second Avenue/Third Avenue (A1025) and Tendring Road where it is thought ticks associated with the disease Babesiosis can be found.

The precautionary advice comes after the Star reported that dogs have been treated for Babesiosis by local vets after having walked within the marked area.

Vets are concerned that the disease, which can have serious implications for dogs, could have become established in the area.

The ticks concerned are extremely rare in Britain and this is the first time that Babesia, the bacterium causing the disease, has been found in the tick in the UK.

Vets say it is important that dog owners have their pets protected with anti-tick treatment and regularly check their dogs for ticks.

Advice notice, posters will be

STAY AWAY: Dog owners told not to walk their pets near or in the fields marked on the map placed within the area.

Councillor Mark Wilkinson, portfolio holder for environment, said: "This is purely precautionary advice to dog walkers and follows information which has been passed to us by local vets who have recently treated three dogs who had been walked in the area.

"We feel it is appropriate to alert dog owners of a potential issue as it is a popular area with dog walkers.

"Further tests are going to be carried on the land once the weather improves and if necessary further advice will be issued.

"The council is also in contact with the Department for Environment Food & Rural Affairs and is seeking any further advice from them."

In brief

Hundreds are against Town Park application

HARLOW: More than 1,000 people have signed a petition opposing plans for houses to be built within Harlow Town Park.

If Harlow Council grant planning permission 14 trees will be cut down for two detached houses to be built in private land off Park Lane, which is within a conservation area.

Pressure group Protect Harlow's Green Spaces and Trees launched the petition last month and to date 1,022 people have signed. The application is due to be heard by the council before March 31.

Increase in 999 calls

EAST: People are being urged by the East of England Ambulance Service Trust to use 999 wisely after another spike in demand.

The NHS trust received more than 85,000 calls last month, compared with 72,000 in 2015.

The increase in calls resulted in a response to more than 66,000 incidents in February. In Essex demand rose by 8.7 per cent from 18,521 calls to 20,141.

All-ability sport event

HARLOW: Families are challenged to take the Leap of Faith and other activities at Harlow Leisurezone.

Disability fitness service All Ability Sports are holding activities at the Third Avenue centre from 3-5pm on Sunday, March 20.

Couple hit out at council over death of shrub

Contractors cut back 20-year-old plant

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

AN angry couple have hit out at Essex County Council for the death of their prized 20-year-old clematis plant.

When County Hall was resurfacing the pavement in Longbanks, Harlow, John Carter, 82, and his wife Eileen 80, gave permission to contractors to cut back the clematis montana shrub, which was growing over the garden fence.

But to their surprise, the contractors "hacked" back the plant before pulling it out of the ground completely, and killing it.

Great-great grandfather Mr Carter said: "We are upset the bush has died. People always said it was lovely. We enjoy gardening and, as an elderly couple, we took pride in the bush so we are sad that it is gone."

He added: "The bush was completely hacked to pieces. For years people complimented the beautiful bush and its lovely fragrance, but now it is dead."

"The council were taking up paving slabs on the path alongside our garden fence and replacing it with asphalt. They asked our permission to trim the bush to gain access and we said that would be ok."

"However, we found half of the plant had been completely pulled out which killed it."

Clematis montana produces a distinctive pink flower and was the largest plant in the Carter's garden.

But after the incident the bush has only been left with its bare roots and will never flower again.

The couple, who have lived in the house since 1967, have two children, two grandchildren, four

ANGRY: John Carter and his wife Eileen by the remains of the plant, inset, how it looked before it was cut back great grandchildren and two great-great grandchildren.

After the incident they complained to Harlow Council, who has since referred their complaint to County Hall, whose contractors had carried out the work.

An Essex Highways spokesperson said: "One of our senior engineers will be visiting Mr Carter this week to find out what happened to his bush and, if necessary, see if we can help him. We try to take every care when we need to trim any overhanging foliage as part of pavement repair work."

"We would like to take this opportunity to remind residents that when properties front the public highway, it is the landowners responsibility to maintain vegetation so it does not overhang and impede pedestrians or motorists."

Guarantees are welcomed

GOVERNMENT guarantees on the prevention of domestic abuse have been welcomed by Harlow MP Robert Halfon.

In January, minister for preventing abuse, exploitation and crime Karen Bradley MP spoke at the Citizens Advice in West Gate about domestic violence.

She spoke to a range of staff members and residents including Kevin Blunnie - father of murdered mum-to-be Eystna Blunnie, pictured right.

Mr Blunnie had criticised the Government for not providing more services to protect victims of domestic abuse.

This week he said: "We are pleased to see that things are changing."

Mr Halfon added: "I have been raising the issues Kevin Blunnie mentioned during our meeting with the minister. In response to these comments, I received the following guarantees from the Government."

"The Government is taking urgent action to address emerging pressures on services by providing £7m for sexual violence services in response to increased reporting and an additional £10m for refugees.

"Confirmation of a £3.5m fund to boost the provision of domestic violence services including safe accommodation, refuges and specialist services, is supporting 46 local authorities this year."

"This means that there will now be 710 new bed spaces in a range of safe accommodation, providing help to more than 3,500 victims of domestic abuse across the country."

The minister also highlighted two strategies that are helping the victims of domestic abuse.

Jurors fail to reach verdict in shooting court case

JURORS have failed to reach verdicts in the case of a Harlow man accused of shooting another man with a sawn-off shotgun.

Shea Kenny, 26, of Abbeydale Close, was allegedly sitting in his BMW when he inflicted hand and arm injuries to Sam Weaver.

Kenny denies possessing a shotgun with intent to endanger life and wounding with intent to cause grievous bodily harm, both on August 30 in Willowfield last year. He was remanded in custody pending a decision.

Judge Christopher Morgan, discharged the jury at Chelmsford Magistrates' Court and gave the prosecution a week to decide whether to have a retrial.

The jury of eight women and four deliberated for nearly 14 hours over three days.

Innovation hub will create jobs and help growth

Multi-million pound centre deal struck

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A MULTI-MILLION pound deal has been struck for a major new Medical Technology Innovation Centre at Harlow Enterprise Zone.

The centre, due to open autumn 2017, will support start-up businesses, small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs) as well as international companies, leading to job creation within the Harlow area and boosting economic growth in Essex.

The deal was struck on Thursday after a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) was signed between Essex County Council and Anglia Ruskin University.

The £5m Anglia Ruskin project will be supported by a £2.5m grant from County Hall, and has the backing of Harlow Council.

It follows the announcement that Public Health England will be relocating its facilities to Harlow, with 2,500 jobs transferring to the town by 2024.

Last week, Vinci Developments Ltd were appointed by Harlow Council as its preferred development partner to build the new 25-acre Harlow Science Park which will incorporate the MedTech campus.

The new MedTech Campus Science Park will further increase the presence of the life sciences sector in the region and build its profile as an important element of the London-Standed-Cambridge corridor.

Anglia Ruskin University, supported by County Hall, has a vision to establish three MedTech Campus Science Parks at Chelmsford, Harlow and Southend of which the Harlow MedTech Innovation Centre will form a part.

These campuses aim to create one of the world's largest health innovation hubs, attracting international and national companies around the innovative medical technology sector.

Investment in the campuses will help to establish Essex, and the UK, as a global leader in this sector and will secure local and national economic growth.

Councillor Kevin Bentley, Deputy Leader of Essex County Council and cabinet member for economic growth, said: "The life sciences and healthcare sector is key to economic growth in Essex so I'm pleased to be working with Anglia Ruskin University on this important project.

"The Medtech Centre will bring jobs and growth to Harlow, as well as providing new opportunities for research and academic collaboration."

Professor Michael Thorne, Vice Chancellor of Anglia Ruskin University said: "We are delighted to be working in partnership with Essex County Council to develop collaborative facilities for innovative businesses looking to start up in or relocate to Essex.

"The Harlow MedTech Innovation Centre will boost the development of our MedTech Campus, creating one of the largest health innovation spaces in the world."

Diamond night for charity

DENIM and diamonds were the dress code for partygoers who danced the night away at a fundraiser in aid of a breast cancer charity.

More than £15,000 was raised for the clinical trials unit at Harlow Princess Alexandra Hospital and St Margaret's Hospital in Epping.

The glittering event organised by John Trehern and Mick Mahon and held at the Manor of Groves Hotel in High Wych.

Associate specialist breast surgeon Ashraf Patel said: "It was an amazing evening. John has been supporting the charity since 2000 and Mick since 2009.

"Both Johnny and Mick have raised thousands of pounds and have committed a lot of their time to the charity. I would like to thank them on behalf of myself, the team and patients for their unwavering support."

Help create a new piece of town art

ART will be coming to the Harvey Centre this month when sculptors craft new pieces in the shopping precinct.

From Thursday, March 17 to Sunday, March 20 a team from the Gibberd Gallery will create the new sculptures from scrap metal with the public invited to help finish them off.

Named Modern Family Group, the pieces will be shown in the children's area play until Sunday, March 20 before being moved to another location on a permanent basis.

Gibberd Gallery's designs will echo the original Harlow Family Group piece created by sculptor Henry Moore from 1954-1955.

Bryan Young, centre manager at the Harvey Centre, said: "We're excited to be part of this project.

"Anyone familiar with Harlow will recognise the town's fondness of sculpture, so it's great to be helping to make a new addition to this important collection."

For more information about the project visit the gallery website at: www.gibberdgallery.co.uk.

Lottery result

THE winning ticket in the St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday (March 4) is 887507. The winner, who receives £1,000, lives in Harlow.

The winners of the £75 prize (ticket number 125982) and the £400 rollover prize (ticket number 008295) both live in Harlow.

RANGERS CLUB

Tom's whale of a trip

A FORMER soldier is preparing for the adventure of a lifetime by sailing across the Atlantic Ocean in a whale-shaped boat.

It has taken 73-year-old Tom McClean, 20 years and £100,000 to build the remarkable vessel, which he has named Moby and which sits by the side of Loch Nevis in Scotland.

Although he has only sailed it on short journeys up and down the west coast of Scotland, he is now planning to set off on the 3,000-mile crossing between Britain and America.

"It's unlike anything I've ever done before and it has been a long time coming," he told reporters. "Arriving to a huge crowd will be my crowning achievement."

However, before he can set off he must first make sure Moby is in tip-top condition as the boat currently has moss growing on the hull and a leak near the rudder has flooded the kitchen. Mr McClean also plans to fit new electric motors and redecorate the interior.

Mr McClean already holds several records for rowing and yachting voyages across the Atlantic.

He said: "I've learned to stick at things when other people might give up. It makes you feel alive to have a challenge, not just working to pay the bills."

HEROIC EFFORT: Tany's Dell Primary School pupils and teachers dressed as superheroes

Batman, Superman and a host of hero chums

DARK knights and caped crusaders assembled at a Harlow primary school for a superhero-themed day.

Children in Reception at Tany's Dell Community Primary School and Nursery, in Mowbray Road, donned the outfits as part of a creative class project.

Sarah Smith, early years coordinator, said: "Superheroes are a topic for us this term to get the children thinking."

"They made their costumes and their own catchphrases. The project has been used to help them develop their creative writing skills."

"We had a superhero training school where they had physical activities to do. They did a show, in their costumes, to the rest of the school."

Mrs Smith said the characters invented included Ice Pops, Fire Girl, Rainbow Boy, Super Nova and Super Skunk.

"They loved it," she added. "It was a good, fun, learning activity."

Children take trip back into Middle Ages

CHILDREN from a Harlow primary school stepped back in time to learn about medieval culture.

Year 4 pupils from The Henry Moore Primary School, in Kiln Lane, visited St John's Arts and Recreation Centre in Old Harlow for a morning of history.

Students dressed up in medieval costume and learned about music and dancing through the expertise of the St John's ARC volunteers. The eight and nine year-olds also had a play on instruments in the visit which helped towards their history project. The youngsters particularly enjoyed their teacher Curtis Balboni dressing up in a medieval bear costume and dancing.

The event was run by medieval musicians Sara Stowe and Matthew Spring. It was funded by the St John's ARC Tobin Fund, which was set up to encourage the performance and appreciation of music by young people.

Academy's bid to help pupils in Cambodia

Burnt Mills' £5,000 fundraising target

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A HARLOW secondary school is hoping to raise £5,000 by the summer to fund a new school in Cambodia.

Burnt Mill Academy, in First Avenue, is attempting to help build the school and provide it with utilities, in a town with no running water.

Teacher Amy Mills said: "Our students will have the opportunity to do several weeks' work experience in Cambodia, working with education charity United World Schools."

Partnership

"We see this as a long-term partnership as well as a short-term fundraising project."

Students will be given the opportunity to visit the school, with the charity paying towards the trip, with older students being able to take a gap year working at the new school in the future.

The school in Cambodia currently has five students with

PARTNERSHIP: The school in Cambodia BMA is hoping to sponsor numbers growing as the funds are gathered.

Miss Mills added: "So many children have wanted to get involved with this project as they are desperate to help the children who do not have a school."

"This will be a phenomenal experience for our children as they will learn about a completely different culture, get to visit different places and develop care for other people and understand their needs."

Happy Days at the hall!

HOME-grown acting talent will take to the stage at Victoria Hall Theatre with an exciting spring series of productions.

Diverse performances await audiences at the Old Harlow theatre with plays ranging in location from Soho to outer space.

Proceedings kick off next week with a sci-fi spoof that proves getting a discount is still important in a galaxy far, far away.

Performed by the talented 11-18 year olds from Class Act Theatre School, Store Wars runs from March 17-19 with tickets costing from £9.

The play is co-directed by Caroline Mawdsley and her husband Simon who said: "It is a good fun performance that parodies classic science fiction films.

"It features characters such as Sky Luke-warmer and Pea-Soup-EO as Imperial Stores Galactic Online Retail do battle with rebels looking to start their own independent shops. There are a lot of jokes and references for grown-ups to enjoy."

Harlow Theatre Company perform MOJO from Wednesday, March 30 to Saturday, April 2, with tickets costing from £10.

Through its original run at London's Royal Court Theatre Jez Butterworth's play helped launch the careers of Tom Hollander and Ben Wishaw.

Victoria Hall regulars Joe Bishop and Martin Colton take top roles in the adaption of the play set in 1950s London. The wickedly funny story lifts a lid on the dark side of the rock and roll industry as agents, singers and club owners clash in a bid to get to the top.

Livewire Community Theatre take to the stage on April 8, for a currently untitled performance before East Herts Operatic Society present Happy Days the Musical.

Set in the American city Milwaukee in 1959, the action takes place at Arnold's Diner, which is under threat of closure thanks to a company that wants to build a shopping mall on the land.

The situation comedy was a staple of US TV in the 1970s and 80s, with this musical adaption bringing a retro feel to an era gone-by. Performances run from April 20-23 with tickets costing from £9.50.

Michelle Fisher, show director, said: "Everyone remembers watching Happy Days on TV, it was an institution! We've had a great time at rehearsals, rocking and rolling to all the retro music, we just can't wait for the audience to see it now."

From May 4-7, Harlow Theatre Company is back with Betrayal an adaption of a Broadway classic that examines a love-triangle, between protagonists Emma, her husband and his best friend Jerry. The play was revolutionary in telling a story in reverse order and won acclaim after being premiered in London's West End in 1978.

Street dance fans can look forward to West End smash Into the Woods making its stage debut in Harlow on Sunday, May 15. A small cast from Footlights Theatre Dance School aged 3-15 take audiences on a bonkers journey through the woods to break the spell cast on their family. A wide range of characters come along for the ride with song, dance and drama making an entertaining afternoon for families.

Victoria Hall have more exciting shows lined up with titles announced and more details will follow in the weeks ahead. These are:

It's a Payout performed by Harlow Theatre Company from June 1-4. Class Act Theatre School will give their showcase performance on June 17 and 18. A Medium Night will be held in aid of St Clare Hospice on June 19. Further ahead Harlow Theatre Company will give a stage adaption of cult TV comedy Blackadder from July 20-23.

Only Yesterday is tomorrow

"I'm actually off this week, but I have two small children so I never really have a day off," laughed Suzi Jary a week before her performance at Harlow Playhouse.

Thirty-three years after the death of Karen Carpenter, the West End star is paying tribute to the pop legend with her show Only Yesterday.

The 33-year-old takes to the stage tomorrow (Friday, March 11) for a retrospective performance packed with all The Carpenters' most-loved hits.

"I have always been a fan of Karen," said Suzi of her decision to perform as the late singer.

"I idolised her, but for a long time I was scared to tackle some of the songs as I thought they were beyond me and my voice could never match hers.

"But, with my husband playing piano, I tried a few of their songs and the recording was really good. So four years ago, I took it up. This is the closest sound-a-like I have had and it's very nice.

"I usually have four shows a week and around 150 per year. We tour all over the UK but I'm planning to go to Holland soon too," she added.

The time-span between Karen's death and the Only Yesterday show, which enters its fifth year of touring in 2016, reflects the lasting legacy of The Carpenters.

Karen and her brother Richard Carpenter were both child music prodigies and started making music together in the 1960s, releasing their first album Ticket to Ride in 1969, which was a commercial failure.

However, through their acclaimed second album Close to You and self-titled third album, the duo developed a large fanbase. After the release of A Song for You in 1972 and Now and Then (1973) they had become one of the biggest bands in the world.

Their distinctive easy listening style was universally well received and the pair continued their success up until Karen's death in 1983.

"The songs are all so well written and sung," said Suzi on the legacy of The Carpenters.

"Most of her songs are ballads and they are just incredible."

Fans of The Carpenters can expect all the classic hits including: (They Long to Be) Close to You, We've Only Just Begun, Top of the World and of course Only Yesterday – which gives the show its name."

Suzi added: "The show is loosely chronological and goes through the albums. We have a seven-piece band as well as a narrator, who sets the scene.

"Of course the real Karen played the drums, but I haven't mastered that yet. My aim for 2017 is to perform a few songs on the drums but for now it is just my voice.

"It is a tribute to The Carpenters, and when I had the idea to do a show like this we really wanted to make sure that it was really good and well performed."

Karen died at the age of 32 from heart failure brought on by complications of anorexia.

Her death increased public awareness of eating disorders and she is remembered as an exceptional singer and drummer, while Richard is a highly respected songwriter.

For many years, Suzi performed in London's West End as Dusty Springfield, an act she still reprises with touring show Let's Twist Again!

She divides her shows as Karen and as Dusty in the '50s and '60s themed variety show almost equally, and has done for several years.

Does she ever get the two parts mixed up?

"I have nightmares about getting them confused," she laughed. "But up to now it hasn't happened.

"It can be a bit mind-blowing, but what really helps is having great costumes, my wigs are my babies! I always arrive early at a theatre to get into character."

She added: "I was born in Epping and grew up in Theydon Bois; while I had both my children at Princess Alexandra Hospital, who are now one and three-years-old.

"I am looking forward to being in Harlow next week, as I have a lot of friends in the area and it feels like I am coming home. I now live in Doncaster with my family and divide my time between there and Theydon Bois.

"I did lots of training at Harlow Playhouse and I did my first ever production there, West Side Story, and it is a fabulous venue. It gave me the bug for doing theatre. It's where it all started."

■ Only Yesterday will be performed on Friday, March 11 at Harlow Playhouse. Tickets start from £17. For bookings and more information visit: www.playhouseharlow.com.

Have the time of your life . . .

DIRTY Dancing fans are invited for the time of their lives through an evening of dance performed to the classic music.

An Evening of Dirty Dancing: The Tribute Show moves away from characters and story to purely focus on the music and dance of the 1987 film that starred Jennifer Grey and Patrick Swayze.

Performed at Harlow Playhouse on Tuesday, March 17 the show will feature talent from the Pauline Quirk Academy of Performing Arts.

Now in its sixth year, the choreographed show is still lead by Julian Essex-Spurrier and Amanda Coutts with Paul Spicer the director.

Paul said: "We're thrilled to have the PQA students join the cast for this special evening.

"We think it's important to give local talent a platform as we tour the country, introducing our audiences to the stars of tomorrow.

He added: "The atmosphere is always electric. We totally encourage our audiences to sing and dance and immerse themselves in the summer of '63. I watch people leave the theatre on a real high.

"I've seen people burst into tears of happiness. This is a multi-award winning soundtrack steeped in nostalgia. I challenge anyone to come along and not have a fantastic time."

An Evening of Dirty Dancing: The Tribute Show will be performed at Harlow Playhouse on Tuesday, March 17. Tickets start at £19. For bookings and more information visit: www.playhouseharlow.co.uk.

TEA TALK: Patrick Kaberia Muthaura

How buying Fairtrade can change lives

FAIRTRADE Fortnight, which continues until March 13, is the time of year when we're reminded not only that we should think about buying ethically sound goods but also how this helps producers in other countries.

Patrick Kaberia Muthaura of the Michimikuru Tea Company was in Essex last week to do just that, calling into Co-operative Quadrant store to talk to Fairtrade supporters about how the products they buy makes a real difference to people in his community in Kenya.

Patrick has been farming tea for more than 24 years. Growing up in the Nyambene Hills near Mount Kenya, Patrick's father worked for the then Nyambene Tea Company, which previously owned the Michimikuru tea estate and factory until both were bought by small-scale farmers to create the Michimikuru Tea Company in 2007.

Patrick, who is married with three children, has a two-acre farm of his own and has held various positions in the company. Currently he's tea extension assistant for the Michimikuru Tea Company, advising farmers on how to improve their practices, and how to grow and handle tea. Patrick also represents workers on the company's Fairtrade Premium committee so is particularly well placed to let people in the UK know about how Fairtrade can help ordinary people.

"I wanted to tell them about my experience as a farmer in Kenya and the benefits of Fairtrade. The benefits are things such as environmental benefits because we don't use pesticides or chemicals and benefits to the community because we no longer have child labour."

Patrick explains how the guaranteed premium from Fairtrade means money from the sale of the tea goes straight to the growers.

"The premium is the most beautiful thing, all 10,000 farmers benefit from it as it goes towards community profits."

"It has helped us build schools, sponsor eight children to go to university who would never had a chance of going there any other way, and build a maternity hospital."

Patrick says there are plenty of things the community still needs like a clean water supply, decent roads and electricity and he points out that the more people buy Michimikuru Tea (via CafeDirect) the more money his community get from the premium to do these projects.

"The UK is the best country for buying Fairtrade but it could do even better. The UK is the sole country we sell to. You drink a lot of Fairtrade tea and a lot of tea from Kenya because of the history we have with the UK."

"Fairtrade premiums have been so important in changing people's lives. We've been seeing the transformations to communities and how things can get better. There have been some big achievements."

"What I'm doing [with this talk] is shining a torch on what you have done for us. This is what buying Fairtrade does. We know things can change with the power of choice that is in your pockets." Darryl Webber

With her trim figure, long blonde hair and blue eyes, Calgary Avansino looks the epitome of a healthy Californian. But she's made Britain her home for the past 16 years, where, as part of the burgeoning clean-eating brigade, she's transforming our daily diets.

New cookbook Keep It Real is packed full of wholesome advice from the mum-of-three (to Ava, Margot and Remy), who arrived here in the winter of 2000, to discover coconut water and quinoa were unheard of, let alone available in local supermarkets.

Now, of course, they're ubiquitous, but we're still making bad decisions about what we put in the trolley.

Avansino, who started her career in journalism as the assistant to British Vogue's editor-in-chief Alexandra Shulman and is now a contributing editor, has a simple set of rules for how to 'keep it real', which include: ditching diets, embracing plants, and eliminating sugar.

Anti diet

"When I talk about a plant-based diet, it doesn't mean you have to be a vegan or veggie at all; if you want to eat lean, good cuts of meat, that's fine. You just have to look at what else you're eating," she says. "I'm not saying make three-star Michelin meals, I'm just saying chop some spinach."

It was really important for Avansino that her book be published post-January, so it wouldn't be part of the "detox, diet mentality".

"This is forever. You have to decide if you want to change how you think about cooking and the food you put in your kitchen. It should be a great thing – not a deprivation thing."

"I think there's a huge movement against dieting and that's what I want to see – because I don't want anything I write to be thought of as a diet."

So that means you can indulge in your favourite food, be that pizza or brownies, but she says: "You just can't have it all the time".

Try some of Calgary's healthy and nutritious dishes:

Calgary's Cauliflower Couscous

SERVES 4 AS A MAIN OR 6-8 AS A SIDE

Ingredients

1 large cauliflower (about 750g after trimming)
3tbsp extra virgin olive oil
1/2tsp ground turmeric
1/2tsp ground cinnamon
1/2tsp ground nutmeg
Grated zest of 1 lemon
Juice of 1/2 lemon
15 mint leaves, roughly chopped

Keeping it real

American-born Calgary Avansino is a pioneer of clean eating and her debut cookbook serves up her philosophy on a plate

60g pistachios, toasted and roughly chopped

4 spring onions, chopped

100g goats' cheese, crumbled

1 x 400g can chickpeas, drained and rinsed

1/2 pomegranate, seeds removed (optional)

Juice of 1 lime

Salt and pepper

Method

Core and cut the cauliflower into medium florets. Blitz the florets in a food processor until they resemble couscous. Do it in two batches if the food processor is more than three-quarters full. Don't over-blend, otherwise it will become pureed – that's baby food, not couscous.

Add two tablespoons of olive oil and fluff with a fork, then season with the salt, pepper, turmeric, cinnamon and nutmeg. Then add all the remaining ingredients except the lime juice and toss together. Add additional olive oil, salt and pepper if necessary. Pour the lime juice over the top.

Broccoli 'Meatballs'

MAKES 12, SERVES 3-4

Ingredients

275g broccoli florets (about one large head)

125g plain almonds (not roasted, salted or sweetened)

1 large egg

10g basil leaves, finely chopped

10g flat-leaf parsley, finely chopped

5g coriander leaves, finely chopped (optional)

10g finely grated Parmesan cheese

2 garlic cloves, finely chopped

1/8tsp cayenne pepper, or to taste

Salt and pepper

Method

Preheat the oven to 180C/Gas 4 and line a baking sheet with baking parchment.

Place your broccoli florets in a steamer and steam for approximately 10 minutes, until tender and still bright green, rather than mushy and going grey; keep checking them with a knife to ensure they don't overcook. Once steamed, refresh in cold water to stop the cooking and leave in a colander to drain.

In a food processor or high-powered blender, grind the almonds into a fine powder and place in a mixing bowl. Then pulse the steamed broccoli in the food processor or blender until finely chopped (not pureed) and place in the bowl with the almonds.

Whisk the egg in a separate small bowl, then add to the mixing bowl along with the basil, parsley, coriander – if using, Parmesan, garlic and cayenne pepper, and season with salt and pepper.

Mix everything well, until thoroughly combined, then using your hands, make approximately 12 'meatballs', pressing them firmly together to be sure they retain their shape.

Place the balls on the baking sheet, making sure they are not touching. Pop in the oven for 25 minutes or until they are just turning golden brown.

Po comes out fighting the third time (very) round . . .

Things are getting a bit familiar in the third Kung Fu Panda film, says Damon Smith

Kung Fu Panda 3

ANIMATED COMEDY: PG 95 mins

Directors: Jennifer Yuh Nelson, Alessandro Carloni
Voices: Jack Black, Bryan Cranston, Dustin Hoffman, Angelina Jolie, JK Simmons, Jackie Chan, Seth Rogen, Lucy Liu, David Cross, Kate Hudson

Ardent fans of unlikely kung fu-fighting warrior Po will happily grin and panda bear this derivative yet breathlessly energetic third instalment of the computer-animated adventure series.

Visually, Jennifer Yuh Nelson and Alessandro Carloni's picture is a black belt: bright colours saturate the screen, the 3D format is employed adroitly in gymnastic fight sequences and character detail has improved noticeably since Kung Fu Panda 2.

However, screenwriters Jonathan Aibel and Glenn Berger don't flying kick and punch the plot into touch with similar urgency or invention.

Mothballed jokes about a panda's vast appetite or the creature's inability to scale flights of stairs are aired again and spiky banter between Jack Black's self-doubting hero and Dustin Hoffman's despairing red panda mentor also feel like hand-me-downs.

"If you only do what you can do, you will never do more than you can do now," cryptically sermonises the sensei.

Black's whirlwind vocal performance, which enlivened the first two chapters, is more of a stiff breeze here, but still whips up big laughs.

His gleefully frenetic verbal riffs are epitomised by one snappy exchange about the chief villain's propensity to engage in pointless "chitty chat chat" before a fight.

After 500 years of incarceration in the Spirit Realm, megalomaniacal yak Kai (voiced by JK Simmons) steals the chi of every kung fu master including his one-time friend, Oogway (Randall Duk Kim).

Only the Dragon Warrior – overweight dumpling-obsessed panda Po (Black) – can bring Kai's reign of terror to an end.

So the power-crazed yak returns to the mortal plane and gallops towards the Jade Palace to lock horns with Master Shifu (Hoffman) and his plucky disciples: Tigress (Angelina Jolie), Monkey (Jackie Chan), Mantis (Seth Rogen), Viper (Lucy Liu) and Crane (David Cross).

Meanwhile, Po is reunited with his rotund biological father, Li Shan (Bryan Cranston), and embarks on a quest of self-discovery to harness the power of chi.

In a mountaintop panda village, Po builds bridges between Li Shan and his surrogate father Mr Ping (James Hong), fends off amorous advances from ribbon dancer Mei Mei (Kate Hudson) and learns about his late mother:

"She was the total package: smart, beautiful, tremendous appetite," gushes Li Shan.

Po also marshals his fellow bears into a well-drilled army capable of repelling Kai and liberating the creatures under the yak's Machiavellian control.

Kung Fu Panda 3 is a jaunty affair that breeds comfort and warm smiles through familiarity.

Black's nervy wise-cracking contrasts nicely with Simmons' bombastic antagonist, while Hong scene-steals mercilessly as the goose who raised the golden panda.

Violence is obscured – no digital creatures were harmed in the making of Nelson and Carloni's film – and pacing rarely slackens.

The third outing is a fitting conclusion to the series, so DreamWorks Animations will hopefully learn from the mistakes of Shrek and let Po bow out in style.

SO, spring is finally here, accompanied by freezing temperatures and snow. And as the season changes, I find that events come thick and fast and I am busier than ever. Which suits me fine of course!

On the domestic front, we have been hosting three Canadian teenagers as part of a cultural exchange my daughter Lily has taken part in with her school.

The students from Leventhorpe visited their Canadian hosts in Montreal last year and the return visit has just taken place.

I was slightly wary about hosting three teenage boys for the visit, but I needn't have worried, they were absolutely lovely boys: charming, considerate and very polite!

They bought us some wonderful gifts, including maple sugar cookies, maple syrup (of course), maple tea, mint humbugs and some rather fancy looking ice wine.

The ice wine is of particular interest, as it is a really exclusive product. Although originally developed in the cooler northern European countries, Canada's Niagara Peninsula and the Okanagan Valley are also suited to the production of icewine.

The difference with this kind of wine is that the grapes ripen at the usual time, usually reaching full ripeness in around October. Then they are left on the vines until the deep freeze of the Canadian winter.

Temperatures must reach at least -10°C usually in December or January before they will be harvested. The grapes are frozen solid and must be harvested in this state, usually meaning that they are arrested in the middle of the night when they are harvested and pressed.

GALLIC CHARMER:

Host with the most!

The conditions the grapes are exposed to means they naturally dehydrate, which concentrates the sugars in the fruit, intensifying the flavours and aromas.

When pressed, the yield of juice is very low, only 10-15 per cent of normal as much of the water in the grapes is left behind in the form of ice crystals. According to the makers of Enniskillen Icewine, the magic of the wine is its "refreshing acidity and intensity that balances the sweetness". I hope they're right, as it's chilling in the fridge now ready to have with my cheese board tonight after the roast lamb I'm cooking right now.

As well as Canadians, I was hosting eight very enthusiastic students at Baythorne Hall Cookery School near Haverhill in Suffolk for a full-day 'Indian cooking made easy' course.

The menu consisted of baked filo lamb samosas with a fresh coriander and tamarind chutney, followed by courgette and dhal bhaji served with fresh rotis.

Finally, we made my cheat's chicken biryani (recipe in my cookbook Kitchen Favourites with Saira: Ginger) served with a mixed vegetable curry called niramish, which is just a Bengali catch-all name for any curry dish without meat - what you put in it is really up to you!

We had such a lovely day, my students made some delicious food which they enjoyed for lunch and took much of the food they cooked home for grateful family members too. .

In an action-packed week, it was then on to my first food festival of the year, one called Feast East held at the beautiful English Heritage venue of Audley End House.

I was cooking in the events kitchen alongside everyone's favourite French chef, Jean-Christophe Novelli. Regular readers may recall that I hosted J-C at the Hertford Food Festival last year, and wrote a column about his new take on cooking without fats, salt, sugar or alcohol.

He remembered me and the article as soon as he saw me, I was a little nervous that he may not have liked that column, but he told me and everyone around me what a wonderful article I had written in a very important publication, which is quite right too, wouldn't you say, Ed? (Well, yes! Ed.)

Another day, another chicken biryani, but it really is such a good dish that I make no apologies for using it again. It is a brilliant recipe to show people how not all Indian food has to be spicy-hot, or chunks of meat covered in sauce.

It is a deliciously fragrant and aromatic dish and very light in flavour, but no less scrumptious for it.

When Jean-Christophe Novelli tells you how fantastic your biryani is, you know you are doing something right.

Thanks to all the people who came to see me at Feast East.

I'll be appearing at many more food festivals this year, so make sure you keep an eye on my website or Facebook page SairaHamiltonChef to find out when and where I'll be cooking next.

Fourth generation Kia Sportage crossover offers so much more

TESTED Kia Sportage

David Ward

IT'S Kia's best-selling car in the UK with more than 21,000 sold last year and this month the fourth generation of their Sportage crossover goes on sale with the South Korean company aiming to see further sales growth across their nine-model range actually top a total of 100,000 sales by 2020.

This ambitious target seems realistic enough – they sold a record 78,000 here last year – as this new Sportage spearheads their continuing growth helped by a market leading seven-year warranty given on all new cars sold.

With 18 new Sportage variants now on offer, starting at £17,995 through to £31,645, this is a key model for Kia which is why there's a wide choice of four engines, three gearboxes and six different trim levels as they aim for both individual, retail buyers as well as the crucial fleet market.

An initial glance at this new model and some motorists may think that visually there's little change from the previous model but there are subtle changes such as a curvier-shaped body this time around while the bow-tie shaped front grille is accompanied by more rounded lower panels. It certainly has looks of a more aggressive stance about it.

Along the sides the design is much the same as before and also at the rear end too but some styling aspects do depend on what trim level is opted for but pleasingly all models now have alloy wheels, front fog lamps and LED daytime running lights as standard.

Elsewhere there's more fuel efficient engines, more home comforts inside the cabin and all the latest high tech connectivity available.

This time around they've added GT-Line models, starting at £24,350, which are aimed at attracting the more sporty-minded private drivers to the Sportage, while both the 1.7-litre and 2.0-litre turbo diesel versions will attract company car drivers, particularly with improved fuel consumption and reductions of up to 29g/km meaning lower company car tax to pay.

The six trim levels are simply badged up as 1, 2, 3, 4, GT-Line and First Edition and all versions are powered by the 1.6-litre GDI and 1.7-litre CRDi as front-wheel-drive and those driven by the 1.6-litre T-GDI and two 2.0-litre CRDi diesels have all-wheel-drive.

For drivers it's easy to spot the AWD versions by the 'KX' prefix in their model designation, except of course for the GT-Line and First Edition models.

Again inside and the cabin has been vastly improved in my view with more pleasant soft-touch feeling on the furnishing and trims all helping give it a bit more luxury than last time around while for the driver the dashboard and controls are well positioned, easy to use including the touch-screen infotainment system which even no-tech drivers will easily adapt to on the move.

The wheelbase this time is slightly longer, which in turns means it offers a bit more legroom inside and it will accommodate five adults in comfort thanks in part to the central transmission tunnel running low and flat plus boot space is good at 491 litres, and thankfully the standard split-folding rear seats drop more or less flat.

Out on the road during a brief pre-launch test run, both diesel and petrol engines seem much quieter, particularly when revving harder to overtake another car, and improved suspension makes the ride both more supple and easier to cope with bumps and humps.

The steering too seems more responsive, direct and ideally weighted, while as for engines, there's that new turbocharged 1.6-litre 174bhp petrol engine on offer but in my view the best one to opt for (as fleet buyers will no doubt do) is the 1.7-litre 114bhp diesel which Kia claim will return around 61.4mpg and has a

CO2 of 119g/km. This was again noticeably quiet, but it does also have impressive torque (i.e. pulling power) particularly from low down revs making it so much more flexible and for a diesel remarkably quiet and relaxed to drive.

Verdict: It's easy to see why the previous Sportage was so popular because it looked smart, had bags of room inside making it practical for the family whilst it was really enjoyable to drive, certainly well-equipped and a decent enough high standard of build quality.

Now it gets even better because even the most basic version has as standard air-conditioning, all-round electric windows, DAB radio, Bluetooth with voice recognition, cruise control, cornering lamps and a leather steering wheel.

This really well priced fourth generation incredibly has gone at least one or if not two notches further in all round appeal with its improved ride and handling, better fuel economy for both petrol and diesel power and of course that excellent warranty.

The Sportage is up against some strong opposition in this sector, such as the Nissan Qashqai and Honda CR-V, but as with the previous model, more than stands its ground and is much improved and a worthy contender for motorists looking to buy such a family-orientated car.

IT Technician

Required for April 2016

37 hours per week, full time.

Salary from £19,621 dependent on experience.

The School is seeking to employ a proactive IT Technician to support the IT Manager in the running of the school's network and infrastructure. The ideal applicant will be an excellent problem solver, with good interpersonal skills.

The successful candidate will ideally have some experience of working in a busy ICT Support team and want to expand their technical knowledge. A good working understanding of networking, Windows Server, Exchange, SIMS and all of the necessary skills to successfully help support a network is desirable, although training will be provided.

They will need the ability to work under pressure at all times, accurately, and within tight deadlines.

Admissions Officer and Attendance Administrator

Required for April 2016

Term-time plus 1 week, 37 hrs per week.

HCC salary scale H7 from £20,620 dependant on experience.

The school is seeking a professional and flexible administrator, able to work with a high level of accuracy to co-ordinate the School's Admissions process, as well as providing administrative support to the pastoral team, with a particular focus on student attendance. The successful candidate will need to demonstrate high level ICT skills, excellent communication and organisational skills whilst maintaining complete confidentiality, and be able to work under pressure.

Experience of working in schools would be a significant advantage.

Application forms available from Mrs D Landers, or downloadable from www.tbshs.org.

TBSHS is committed to safeguarding and promoting the safety and welfare of all our children and expects staff to share this commitment.

A Disclosure Barring Service check is required for all successful applicants.

Closing date: 12:00 17 March 2016.

French Assistant(e)

from September 2016

A co-educational HMC boarding and day school for 11-18 years

Haileybury wishes to appoint an enthusiastic and inspiring French Assistant(e). The successful candidate will help to develop the French conversational skills of Haileybury's 6th form pupils by conducting conversation classes on a 1:1 basis, or in small groups. He/she will aid our pupils as they prepare for their AS, A level, and IB oral exams. In addition to this conversational work, the role may include extension sessions for our French (near) native pupils, and our Able, Gifted and Talented linguists lower down the school as a supplement to the pupils' timetabled French lessons.

These extension sessions will help to maintain and increase the pupils' fluency and enhance their experience and awareness of French literature and current affairs. The successful candidate will motivate and inspire pupils to speak French and will play an important role in Haileybury's vibrant French Department.

Now then mate, you coming out tonight, everybody's out.

Sorry mate no cash, gutted!!!

Saw Steve last week and he told me everybody's out. You were working again, what's happened there?

Still working but it's zero hours, I've only got 8 hours this week!

Nightmare! Should come work here, I know we are looking for more Field Sales staff, full time with a HP tablet, car, phone & uncapped bonus!

But I only have experience in travel.

No worries they recruit on attitude rather than experience. They have excellent training, top team, can you remember Matt from school? He's here too.

Great how do I apply?

Email over your CV and covering letter To our boss Darren's PA Nicole.
nicole.want@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Cheers mate, I will do it now!

How about I lend you £40 until your first pay day?

Oh...Go on then mate, you're a legend. When are they interviewing?

They are interviewing next week!

Great stuff, got my mojo back now! See you in the station at 7.30pm

Result all round 7.30pm it is!

CALLED UP: (Not in order), Amelia Harrington, Millie Lynch, Molly McCarthy, Sadie Jessey, Lois Hale, Sadie Cooper and Heather Cannon

Gymnasts' county joy

THREE members of Harlow Gymnastics Club have been selected for a place in the prestigious Essex county squad.

Seven-year-olds Amelia Harrington and Millie Lynch, plus Molly McCarthy, nine, have been called up.

They join Sadie Jessey and Lois Hale, both 11, who were awarded a place last year and have retained their spot in the team. The gymnasts were invited to a trial at an event at Havering Gymnastics Club.

Harlow gymnasts Sadie Cooper, seven, and Heather Cannon, 11, are reserves.

The gymnasts will train with the elite county squad with high level coaches and will have the opportunity to be selected to represent Essex in future regional competitions.

Head girls coach and club co-owner, Gordon Mitchell, said he was delighted that so many of the club's gymnasts had been selected and could represent the club at regional level.

Ladies beaten by Chelmsford as drop looms

Essex Women's Hockey Premier Division

Chelmsford III	..... 4
Harlow	..... 0

WITH two games left this season, Harlow remain four points ahead of second-from-bottom Old Loughtonians III.

They suffered a heavy 4-0 loss at third-placed Chelmsford III on Saturday in the Essex Women's Hockey League Premier Division, but their rivals also lost.

Harlow tried a new formation and made a promising start to the match with Kelly Ball slotting in comfortably to the role of attacking midfielder and Bethan Spencer giving the team stability.

The Harlow defence were by far the busiest players but Samantha Care, Anita Shearman and player of the match Lara Horrax reacted well under pressure, and ensured the onslaught didn't lead to a whitewash.

The score was 3-0 to Chelmsford at half-time.

Harlow dominated the play in the second half and were unlucky not to score with opportunities from Georgina Esterhuysen-Smith and Charlotte Byers which flew narrowly wide.

Chelmsford, frustrated by the change in Harlow's pace, began to throw more players forward.

Laura Hay made a few fine saves in goal, but could not prevent Chelmsford scoring one more to complete a 4-0 win.

Harlow could end Uppminster's slim title challenge if they win or draw the fixture between the two teams at Leventhorpe on Saturday (2pm start).

In Division Three, Harlow's seconds won 4-2 at home to Thurrock III.

■ HARLOW won 4-2 away to Waltham Forest in the East Men's Hockey League Division Six South East.

The champions are 15 points clear of second-placed Clacton with two games left to play.

Paralympic role for Anne emerging female leader from within the Paralympic Movement for an 18-month long mentoring relationship.

It has thrown together Wafala Strike, 46, with Revazashvili.

Wafala Strike said: "I wanted to join the WoMentoring because I wanted to share my knowledge. I have something to pass on. When I was paired with Tinatin from Georgia, this was a perfect match."

Revazashvili is training a boccia team and is fighting for women's rights in the sport in her country, which used to be part of the Soviet Union.

Wafala Strike added: "I'm so impressed with how Tinatin has come on and despite some of the challenges she has faced, she's actually just shown that sometimes if things are being thrown in your way, you can use these barriers to make yourself stronger."

Hawks fight back to draw Hornets' sting

Champions continue winning run in Essex League

Essex Basketball League Division Two

Thurrock Hornets	..... 56
Harlow Hawks	..... 72

by Alan Scott

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

CHAMPIONS Harlow Hawks made hard work of a strange 'away' fixture against Thurrock Hornets at Harlow Leisurezone.

This fixture intended to be a home game for Thurrock but was switched to Harlow as their venue was unavailable.

Having won the Division Two title last week against Southend Scorpions, Hawks should have been in the mood to continue their winning run.

However, it was not so straightforward against an obdurate Hornets side.

Hawks made a solid start to the first quarter with Shab Niaz scoring four three pointers in the quarter with three of them back to back.

Russ Allan and Rimantas Norkeliunas also contributed to the 20-point quarter as Harlow got off to a flying start.

Hornets were no slouches though, hitting their own three pointers and keeping themselves in the game.

Hawks were in control though, and their defence was looking good as the quarter ended with Harlow 20-14 ahead.

In the second quarter it seemed the Hornets recognised the threat from Hawks and stepped up their defence, and were causing lots of frustration among the Hawks' camp.

Within five minutes of the second quarter, Hornets had brought the game level and went on a 7-0 run to take the lead in the seventh minute.

Dan Cohen was the only Hawks player scoring in the first part of the quarter.

Flurry

Tom White and Norkeliunas kept Harlow in contention in the final two minutes with a flurry of baskets and free throws.

However, Hawks found themselves 34-33 down after a poor quarter.

In the third quarter, Hawks improved dramatically and in the first four minutes went on a 14-3 run, taking a ten-point lead in the process.

Most of the damage came from top scorer Norkeliunas, with two threes from Niaz and additions from Jimmy Fuhrmann, Cohen and White.

Hawks defence also impressed this quarter, limiting the Hornets to five points for the whole period, while at the other end Harlow scored 25 and built up a convincing 57-39 lead.

The third quarter was a turning point in the match and taking an 18-point lead into the final quarter meant Hawks could sit back a little bit, but maybe they did this a little too much.

However, Norkeliunas was not sitting back and continued his own scoring run by adding eight points in the first six minutes to a four-point reply from Hornets to open up a gap.

Hawks, now with a 24-point lead, decided again to take their foot off the gas.

This let Hornets go on a 13-7 run, which dented Hawks' lead slightly, but the game was over by the halfway point of the fourth quarter as Harlow held on for a 72-56 victory.

HARLOW HAWKS: Norkeliunas 29 points, Niaz 21, Cohen 8, White 6, Allan 4, Fuhrmann 4, Friedner 0, Burgess 0.

Leopards plan to hit Northumbria with big backlash

LEVETT Essex Leopards will look to bounce back from a horror show against London Lituania when they host Team Northumbria at the Brentwood Centre on Sunday (tip-off 4pm).

The 51-48 defeat against the Lithuanian side means Steve Ogunjimi's team need to win their remaining five games if they are to have any chance of a top-four finish and home-court advantage in the play-offs.

Northumbria will arrive at the Brentwood Centre sitting in fifth place with a 14-5 record, and the Big Cats will be on a revenge mission after going down 86-83 when they travelled to Newcastle in December.

There is certainly no love lost between the two sides with Northumbria coach Marc Steutal having an extraordinary rant about the Big Cats after December's game.

"From the game starting to the last whistle Essex's conduct was despicable" said Steutal. "They were continually challenging every call made by the officials in a very negative way, which really impacted the overall game. This started with the coach and certainly passed down to the players."

Basketball

Former Big Cats Siman Stewart and Ryan Addison will line up against their former club with Leopards' big man Justin Hitchman facing his old team.

Points were at a premium on Sunday in one of Leopards' lowest-scoring games in their history.

There were just 14 points in the first period and that set the tone for the rest of the game.

Both teams came into the game short-handed, with Will Ashby and Dougie Bennett playing in the university final-eight tournament, and Lituania kitted out only seven players.

REUNION: Essex Leopards' Justin Hitchman in action

Tom Martin split a pair of free-throws to open the scoring after two minutes before scores from Courtney van Beest and Hitchman put the home side 8-3 ahead with 3min 37sec left in the first period, but that was the last time they troubled the scorers before the first break as the lead was cut to 8-6.

Hitchman opened the second-period scoring to launch a 12-2 run capped by a pair of Albert Margai foul shots as Leopards opened a 20-8 lead at the midway stage of the quarter.

That proved to be as good as it got for the hosts as Vaupsas converted back-to-back ones, and only Margai and Hitchman got on the scoreboard in the final five minutes of the second half as the home side took a 23-18 lead into the locker room.

That lead was wiped out with an 11-2 run to open the second half, only Tosin Oyelese getting on the scoresheet for Leopards, but scores from Brian Nguru and Jamie Hayes dragged the hosts back into the game, and Nguru hit a triple to give them a 38-32 lead at the final break.

Ladi Brown hit one from three free-throws to extend the lead at the start of the fourth period but Kazlauskas hit a three to cap a 9-0 run from the visitors that gave them a lead they would never lose.

The hosts trailed by seven with 62 seconds remaining but an unlikely comeback looked possible as Hitchman scored before Margai stole the ball and set up Van Beest to make it a three-point game.

Some tough defence forced a turnover with 13 seconds remaining but the Big Cats failed to even get a shot up as the Lithuanians held on for the win.

Nguru and Hitchman led the home side with 11 points apiece, while Margai added seven points and three assists.

The Big Cats are offering pre-game coaching for young players on Sunday. Further details on www.leopardsbasketball.co.uk

Judo

SUCCESS: Chloe Nunn

Chloe's on top of the worlds with Euro joy

CHLOE NUNN was in superb form as she claimed silver at the Cadet European Judo Cup.

The Burnt Mill Academy student fought in the U70kg category at the top event in Fuengirola, Spain.

The 16-year-old, received a bye in the first round due to her top seeding, and in the quarter-finals looked in dominant form beating Filipa Sousa of Portugal.

She scored two minor scores by way of a throw and a hold early on, and she then went on to throw her opponent twice more for two major scores.

In the semi-final, Chloe beat Sara Fernandez-Campillo, of Spain, by again scoring with a throw and a hold, then scoring maximum points with another throw at the end of the contest.

In the final, Chloe lost on two minor scores against Patricia Sampaio from Portugal.

She finished the day with a well-earned silver medal and is now ranked fourth in the IJF world cadet rankings in the female U70kg category.

Chloe, from Harlow, is a member at Bishop's Stortford Judo club.

Meanwhile, Chloe's siblings Ben and Jessica gained medals at the Micklefield Red and Yellow Belt Rumble in High Wycombe, Buckinghamshire.

Ben took silver and Jessica won bronze in the respective categories.

Emma Nunn claimed silver at the NHC Orange Belt and Below competition.

Run duo secure Essex champs silver medals

Where there's mud there's Brass for gritty second spot

Running

by Alan Scott

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE muddy conditions did not deter Louise Brass and Colin Moody, who won silver medals in the Essex 20 Mile Championships.

Held over an undulating three-lap course at Langham near Colchester, the 20-mile distance was an ideal opportunity for those Harlow Running Club members training for a spring marathon to test their fitness for the longer distance.

Brass finished second in her age category (35+) for a silver medal, securing 95th place overall out of 394 finishers.

She recorded a personal best (PB) time for the distance of 2hr 21min 53sec.

Moody was 177th and second veteran 60 in 2.39:09, a new HRC Vet 65 record.

Alex Smith made his debut at the distance and was 80th in 2.18:41. Other results were: Brendon MacLean (115th in 2.25:30 PB); Andy Terrell (123rd in 2.27:24); Jamie Jephcott (138th in 2.30:34); Andy Ramage (197th in 2.43:58 PB); Catherine Ridge (220th in 2.47:33 debut); Dionne Jones (232nd in 2.49:30); Darren Tile (239th in 2.51:05 debut); Debbie Smith (328th in 3.14:19); and Karen Moir (331st in 3.15:04).

Meanwhile at the Milton Keynes 20 mile race, Paul Lee, in his debut at the distance, finished in 307th place out of 812 in 2.47:45.

At the Queen Elizabeth Olympic Park 10K, Andy Kinney was 331st out of 617 finishers in 55:10.

Superb

Daniel Chapman was third out of 100 finishers at the Harlow parkrun 5K in a superb PB of 20:38.

He was followed by Alan Broughton (6th and first Vet 50 in 21:08); Paul Lee (16th in 22:55); Andy Bradley (17th in 23:01 PB); John Bull (18th in 23:15); Paul Schroder (19th in 23:31); Paul Dixon (24th in 24:34); Alan Cootes (30th and 1st vet 60 in 25:47); Spencer Brooks (31st in 25:55); Andrew Smith (51st in 29:51 PB); Hossein Erfani (56th in 30:37); and Pushpa Mistry (58th and 1st female vet 50 in 31:04).

At the Chelmsford parkrun 5K, Ben Usher was 19th out of 505 in an excellent PB of 19:41.

He was followed by Martyn Coulter (48th in 20:47 PB); Sharon Wright (53rd and 3rd female vet 35 in 21:09 PB); Alan Wellbelove (150th in 23:41); Nicola Smith (172nd in 24:14 PB); Debbie Barry (173rd and 1st female vet 55 in 24:15 PB); Michelle Hyde (191st in 24:47 PB); Louise Kedge (216th in 25:42 PB); Jane Evans 266th in 26:54); and Holly Nairn (291st in 27:27).

Daniel Jephcott was second out of 127 runners at the Gunpowder parkrun 5K at Waltham Abbey.

He clocked 18:55 and was followed by Carrinne Jay (35th and 1st female vet 50 in 23:52); Laura Jephcott (59th and 2nd female junior in 27:35 PB, a new HRC U20 record); and Austin Nyamande (60th in 27:59).

At the Hatfield Forest parkrun 5K, Jason Haigh was eighth out of 122 finishers in 20:29.

His son Owen was 12th and first junior in 21:14.

Peter Mills was 86th and first vet 70 in 31:20.

At the Cambridge Boundary Half Marathon, Dave Page came home in 214th place out of 271 finishers in 2:10:19.

In the full marathon boundary race, Sean Flynn was 117th out of 232 finishers in 4:16:11 and Sandi Rust was 136th in 4:22:29.

Lewis helps county side to English triumph

Cross country

LEWIS HARKNETT helped the Essex team secure a medal at the English Schools Cross Country Championships on Saturday.

The Harlow Athletic Club member competed in the intermediate boys' race.

He ran bravely against tough opposition to finish in 156th place from 355 finishers at Wollaton Park in Nottingham.

Lewis was part of the eight-strong Essex boys' team.

All eight members contributed points to the final winning tally to be crowned English Schools' team champions for 2016.

"This is a huge achievement," said the delighted Harlow AC juniors coach Paul Bailey.

Lewis joined fellow Harlow AC members Charlotte Pratt and Lottie Rowedder, selected for Essex and Herts respectively.

In the junior girls' race, Charlotte was suffering with a heavy cold and finished in 246th place from 339 finishers.

In the intermediate girls' race, Lottie had a storming run to finish in 88th place from 343 runners and was not far behind the leaders at the end.

Bailey said the club was proud to have the youngsters competing at the pinnacle of school athletics.

He said: "For our athletes to even be selected to compete at these races, they have to endure hard qualification rounds through their schools championships, local district championships and then finally have to qualify for the county schools teams, which is really hard.

"So many athletes never make this level, so I'm so proud of them to be selected to compete against the 'best of the best'. It's a real honour and I'm really proud to be their coach.

"All our athletes were competing against athletes who are older as they are the youngest in their age groups."

Karters battle it out in final

Motor sport

TWO young Harlow karters battled it out at Hoddesdon Kart Club in the first round of the 2016 club championship at the Rye House Kart Raceway.

A bumper entry of 116 drivers took to the track in east Hertfordshire.

Conditions were far from ideal as a drying track throughout the day made tyre choice and kart set-up very difficult.

The Honda Cadet grid was the biggest of the day, with 26 competitors and lots of local drivers, it provided some hugely exciting racing.

The final was won by Harlow's Harry Thompson.

He pipped Passmores School student Astin Wigley by the slender margin of a quarter of a second.

The championship continues with round two on March 20.

Rams recruit coaches in 'give it a go' event

As club size grows coaching session proves a hit

by Alan Scott

alan.scott@hertssexnews.co.uk

HARLOW Rugby Club hosted a 'Give Coaching a Try' day open to anyone interested in coaching rugby.

The weather was less than favourable but despite this 14 new potential coaches came along.

Organiser and coach Paul Eynon said: "At Harlow Rugby Club we are keen to get as many people as possible playing rugby."

"To do this we need to have coaches who can motivate, educate and push our players to be as good as they can be."

"Attendees didn't need to be experienced in rugby, perhaps some were parents, some male, some female, some old. Basically if people were interested, or thought they might be interested in coaching then this was the day for you."

During the day the attendees watched as Matt Watts from rugby's governing body, the RFU, took a session with volunteers from the Elizabeth Way club's mini and junior section on adapt-ive games.

Illustrated

He illustrated how players can learn key skills through games that start on a simple level and progress, adding key skills such as passing, identifying space and running with the ball.

After a quick de-brief, the attendees took on a mini session of their own, instructing the club's younger players themselves.

"This gave them a chance to give coaching a try for real," said Eynon.

"It was a very successful day with lots of enthusiasm from the teams, a women's team and a full range of mini and junior teams.

The club is moving to a new base at Latton Farm.

Work on this site is set to start imminently with the hope of concluding it in December.

It will include six new pitches and possibly an artificial pitch, a new clubhouse and floodlights.

Norfolk battle on after car accident

RFU London Division Three North East

Harlow . . . . . 23
West Norfolk . . . . . 17

THE Rams might have seen their own promotion dream go by the wayside but they also ended the slim hopes West Norfolk had of going up on Saturday.

On a bad day for the visitors, a road accident on the A10 on the way down to the match forced captain Jamie Williamson to pull out with whiplash.

Three cars containing players were involved in the crash.

Still shaken up, the players only arrived 30 minutes before kick-off.

However, Harlow were in no mood to show compassion as they recorded a 23-17 win, finally defeating their bogey team.

Rams director of rugby Lee Harron threw in Colts players Jack Christy and Mitchell Hodgkinson for their first team debuts as replacements.

Harlow started playing up the slope and after a few minutes the Norfolk backs took advantage of a couple of missed tackles to score a converted try through Ollie Ridout.

Ross Stalley made it 7-3 with a penalty, but almost immediately West Norfolk hit back with an unconverted try from winger Will Knox.

At the other end, Harlow cut the gap to 12-8 with an unconverted try as wing Scott Whitby evaded one defender and drove past a second to score.

Excellent

Early in the second half Stalley made it 12-11 with another excellent penalty.

Ten minutes into the second period, Harlow won line-out ball near the visitors' try-line and from this set up the rolling maul and drove over the line where Dan Evans touched down for the try.

Stalley converted to give Harlow an 18-12 lead.

Whitby finished off another move for his second try of the afternoon midway through the second half.

Although the conversion was missed the hosts led 23-12.

Jack Hoyle split the defence to score an unconverted try and cut the deficit to six points.

But aside from a missed Stalley penalty, there were no more chances for either side.

Hampstead II . . . . . 10
Harlow . . . . . 25

HARLOW Ladies' muddy marvels overcame the tough conditions to produce a fantastic win in the women's National Challenge League.

The team showed grit and passion to triumph 25-10 at Hampstead IIs on Sunday.

Undeterred by the snow showers and plenty of ankle-deep mud, as well as being a player short at the start, Harlow used the conditions well.

Their brand of forward-driven rugby allowed their backs to score some impressive tries.

Hampstead, with the slope in their favour, scored two early tries.

But a stirring talk from Harlow captain Lorna Hunter inspired her side.

Restored to 15, Harlow started to dominate possession and were camped in Hampstead's 22 for the remainder of the first half.

The change of ends at half-time meant Harlow were now

It didn't take long for Harlow to score and Brittany Stoneman was the first with a try to launch the comeback.

This was swiftly followed by a try from wing Liz Gordon, after the backs made the most of a three-player overlap.

Replacement Kayleigh Clemes, playing flanker, picked up a loose ball to run the ball over for the third try.

Harlow scored two more tries in the closing stages, as Clemes made the most of gaps in their defence to score a hat-trick and seal a bonus point win.

Harlow play Lakenham Hewitt at home this Sunday at 2.30pm.

SECOND IS HOME GOAL FOR HAWKS

Runner-up spot vital for play-offs

by Alan Scott

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

ASSISTANT boss Spencer Knight is targeting seven wins in Hawks' remaining ten games in Ryman North as the key to play-off victory.

Although the title might be a bridge too far for Harlow Town now, Knight says the side simply must finish second to get a home tie in the play-off semi-final.

Having suffered only one home defeat all season – and that to an injury-time goal to leaders AFC Sudbury – Knight (pictured left) is convinced Harlow will be too strong for any of their play-off rivals at The Harlow Arena.

Should they win the play-off semi, they would again get home advantage in the final.

Speaking ahead of Saturday's home match against play-off rivals Brightlingsea Regent, Knight says the team is hungry and good enough to win all their remaining matches.

He said: "We have set our sights on promotion and nothing has changed.

"We have got a mountain to climb to win the league. But we have to make sure we finish second. We've got to have home advantage in the play-offs.

"If we get two home games in the play-offs I am confident we can get promoted. We have to make sure we don't finish fourth or fifth and play on a less favourable pitch.

"We would also have big support in the play-offs and that will make a big difference. We should get 1000 and that drives you on."

Knight is convinced that leaders Sudbury will finish on 104 or 105 points this season.

Seven more wins would give Harlow 97 points and considering that after Saturday their toughest remaining games, on paper, are against Bury Town away and Tilbury and Soham Town Rangers at home, before the season reaches its climax away to Sudbury on April 23, seven wins is very achievable.

Big ask

Knight said: "We've got ten games to go and I think seven more wins will get us second.

"It's a big ask but I think we can win every game in this league.

"With the players we have got we can win every game."

Saturday's hosts Brightlingsea are currently seventh and six points outside the play-off places.

"They have just been beaten by Cray so they will be looking to bounce back. We are a big scalp," said Knight.

Harlow go into the game on the back of an impromptu two-week break, something that Knight says the club have found incredibly frustrating.

Both the Romford away game last week and the trip to Bury last Saturday were postponed due to waterlogged pitches.

Even though it gave the Harlow players a chance to recharge the batteries, it came at the worst time with the Hawks looking confident after an impressive 4-1 home win over Aveley 12 days ago.

"It can help [postponements] but we were not carrying lots of injuries," said Knight.

"We got beat at Soham but we bounced back against Aveley and we wanted to keep going.

"We were playing catch up earlier in the season and it does effect you. We don't want to get back in that situation [with lots of games to play]."

Those postponed matches have been rearranged, with Harlow going to Romford next Wednesday (March 23) and then Bury on Tuesday April 5 (both 7.45pm).

Harlow have no injury concerns ahead of the clash with Brightlingsea. They remain third, three points adrift of second-placed Thurrock.

Meanwhile, Harlow have called time on their bid to sign contracted Gloucester City player Billy Jones before the end of the season.

The Hawks hope to bring the left-back – who can also play midfield – in for next season.

KEY HELPER: Anne Wafula Strike, who is mentoring a Georgian boccia coach, wants more women in top leadership roles in the Paralympic movement

Paralympic mentor role for athlete

HAVING faced inequality and discrimination during her life, Great Britain athlete Anne Wafula Strike will be an important figure in a project aimed at getting more women into leadership positions in the Paralympic movement.

Wafula Strike MBE, who competed at the 2004 Paralympics in Greece, has already proved an inspiration to Georgian Tinatin Revazashvili, who she has been working with as part of the International Paralympic Committee's WoMentoring project.

Revazashvili suffered discrimination in her own country in the same way that Wafula Strike did in her home nation of Kenya, before she came to England and settled in Willowfield in Harlow.

Wafula Strike explained: "Some of the problems I experienced in Africa are the same problems that she [Revazashvili] is experiencing now in Georgia.

"For me to share with her how to overcome these difficulties and grow as a person and also be able to grow your movement and to support other women in your country, this is very important."
